

Stars Above

The stars smiled upon us, as if they knew we'd soon join them.
Gazing down at us, as we embrace each other knowing the time will soon come when we are whisked away to separate parts of the world.
But in our nights,
we will still be staring up at the same sky
which will bridge the distance between us
So we may once again,
be standing side by side, under the night sky
And the stars will once again, smile bright.

